CALL FOR PAPERS

>Critic 2/2021
Non-thematic Issue

>Critic is an innovative scholarly journal which covers a wide range of interesting topics, from literary translation to audiovisual and multimedia translation through language technologies, translator training, conference and community interpreting, and intercultural communication. The journal is interested in anything related to languages, translation, culture, and multilingual communication. Published annually, it includes articles and book reviews spanning through the whole translation studies spectrum.

The journal’s non-thematic Issue 2/2021 is set to be out in June 2021. In this vein, the editors invite interesting, original and thought-provoking contributions which tackle any area of translation studies, including but not limited to:

- History of translation
- Translation theory and practice
- Translator’s and interpreter’s professional tools
- Terminology, terminography and specialist-oriented issues
- Training challenges, opportunities and stakeholders
- Relevance and challenges of Continuous professional development
- Oral and written literature in translation
- The role and impact of translation/interpreting professionals

We welcome full length article (between 5,000 and 7,500 words, including references, author bio, footnotes) and reviews (800-1,000 words). Contributions in English, French, or Spanish, referencing the editorial guidelines (see http://actraductologie.org/author-notes/) should be submitted in Word version (.docx or .doc) to critic@actraductologie.org no later than 15 November 2020 at 18:00 CAT.
